Warthog troubles

Summary: What if Halo was more realistic? What if warthogs sometimes didn't start in the cold and you actually had to have a key to drive them? Find out.

Mission time: 13:00 minutes left

Location: Halo, Containment, Blue base.

Red one drove up in the warthog confident that Red 4 left in red base could hold the fort. Behind him sat Red 2 in the gunner spot just having shot down blue 2 in a banshee. Beside him sat Red 3 who was going to pick up the flag after they cleared it.

"GO!" Red 1 shouted after clearing the place. He shut down the hog for silence then waited until Red 3 got back in with Blue teams flag in his hands. "LET'S GO!" shouted Red 3. Red 1 reached down and turned the key.

"What the hell was that?" Red 2 said. "I don't know." Red 1 turned the key again.

"Oh man hurry up they'll be here soon." In the distance there was a noise as a Scorpion tank started up. "Jesus Christ! Would it help if I got out and pushed?" Red 3 shouted. Red 1 looked at him and shouted

"Maybe!" he turned the key again as the tank rounded the corner.

He turned it again.

BWRRRRRRRRRRRRRRRRRRRRR!

He turned around threw up his arms and shouted "I DID IT!" then the scorpion shell hit him in the back of the head. The hog went spinning and landed right side up. Red 3 looked around and saw he was the only Red person there and screamed as the second shot blew the tank to shreds

Note: my friends and I came up with this little short one during a lesson on the American Revolution. I still managed to pass the test. XD
